CITY TO SPEND $16,000

Paramedic program gets official action

Campbell is expected to officially embark on the first paramedic program in its history next Monday, July 9, when the City Council is expected to allocate $16,000 from revenue-sharing funds for paramedic equipment.

The authorization for the program is scheduled to be made after a public hearing, as required by federal authorities, is held on the proposed expenditure.

The paramedic program, as an extension of the services of the Fire Department, was given the highest priority in the report submitted by the Citizens Advisory Goals Committee.

According to the report, many doctors in the area have been willing to donate their time to train existing personnel for the program. The allocation will allow for the replacement of the present rescue van with a more modern vehicle and special equipment.

Another public hearing scheduled for next Monday concerns the weed abatement program of the city. The hearing, as required by the new city ordinance, is to allow for protests of the charges made for the clean-up program of vacant lots.

The new ordinance allows the city to arrange for the cleaning up of the lots and to bill the property owner concerned and, if not paid, the charges become a lien against the property.

On the agenda also is a written request by Pettibone Sign Co., for the City Council to reconsider action denying a sign for the Highway 17 side of the Gold Key Furniture.

The letter specifies that, because of a misunderstanding, no representation was on hand at the City Council meeting when the sign was turned down.

At that particular meeting it took seven motions before the Council was able to take any specific action on the proposed sign.

At next Monday's meeting also, the City Council is expected to review the recommendations made by the Citizens Advisory Goals Committee. Action may be taken on some of the recommendations.

Discussion is also expected on the request of West Valley Hiking Club for the use of the engineering building which is scheduled to be demolished and the property sold.

City Manager Bob Stephens is also expected to report to the City Council the results of the "workshop" held Tuesday on county communications.

According to unofficial reports, the county plans to "give" communication services to some cities (and not to others) at no charge during this next fiscal year. In March of this year, the offer was made by county authorities to underwrite the communication costs for all the cities.

The services are paid for by general county funds and those cities that will not receive any benefit are expected to protest vigorously at the "discrimination."

EAST CAMPBELL AVENUE

Diversion plan wins approval

A traffic diversion plan that has for its objective the alleviation of the heavy through traffic on East Campbell Avenue without putting extra traffic on the adjoining streets, will probably be put in effect next month, according to the public works department.

Under the plan, traffic on East Campbell Avenue will not be able to cross Bascom Avenue (as the cars are doing in the above photos), but must either turn right or left on Bascom.

Part of the county participation in the project will consist of putting barriers at Shady Dale, El Solyo and Arroyo Seco streets to force turns onto Bascom.

Jobs open

There seems to be more jobs available than there are Campbell youths who want 'em, according to Kay Green, city personnel officer.

The City of Campbell has authorized $10,000 for summer employment of high school juniors and seniors. So far only eight young people have taken advantage of the opportunity and at least 14 can be accommodated.

The "YES" program, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, has been extended for an additional week to help coordinate the employment. It was reported this week by Debbie Havens, "YES" director, that 75 youths have been placed to date, in jobs this summer in the area.

Demonstration stresses need of local child care centers

Campbell parents and children are among those taking part in last Friday's demonstration at the Social Welfare Department office in San Jose. At issue is the new federal guidelines which threaten to eliminate some of the families now aided by the child care centers throughout the country.

The Campbell child care center, located at Moorpark School, 649 Thornton Way, presently serves some 80 children from 53 local families. Under the new guidelines, as many as 20 per cent of the children could be cut from the program.

According to Linda Doig, director of the child care center for the Campbell Union (elementary) School District, she has received assurances from Superintendent James D'Avis that no child will be cut from the program due to these new guidelines.

D'Avis was unavailable for comment at press time but Dr. A.O. Bachelor, business manager, stated the district's position.

The board has indicated that they intend to maintain those children presently in the program, according to Bachelor. New enrollees however, must conform with the new guidelines which became effective July 1. This does not mean that the district is committed to assume the total cost of maintaining the present program, he con-

CAMPBELL DISTRICT ON THURSDAY

Three new trustees to take office

Three new Campbell Union (elementary) School District board members, Mrs. Virginia (Jenny) Vaughn, Gordon Abbott, and George Baker will take office at the trustees' meeting this Thursday, July 5, at 7 p.m., in the district administration building.

After the trustees are sworn in by Superintendent Jim D'Avis, new officers for the coming year will be named. Dr. Robert L. King was president last year. Ralph Steinberg was vice-president and Mrs. Judy Ruscigno was clerk.

Steinberg, Mrs. Ruscigno and Mrs. Eleanor Graham-Armstrong did not seek reelection. Dr. Richard MacQuiddy, who served as president in 1971-72, and Dr. King are the two hold-over trustees.

On Thursday, the trustees will be asked to approve the summary program plans for "Early Childhood Education" developed by Moorpark, Sherman Oaks and Cypress schools for the 1973-74 fiscal year funding. The program has been approved by the state agencies involved. The board is also expected to approve an expenditure of $10,500 to make building improvements at Moorpark, Sherman Oaks, Hamilton, Monroe and Rolling Hills this summer for the Early Childhood Education Program.

The board on Thursday is scheduled to open bids for the relocation of district-owned and leased portable classrooms.

A. O. Bachelor, district business manager, has requested that the board ratify the awarding of the roofing bid (opened June 14) for Blackford, Sherman Oaks, Lynhaven, Quito, Moorpark, and Forest Hill schools to California Roofing Company, low bidder, for $18,398.

In another matter on the agenda, Mrs. Pearl Calabrese, food service director, in a lettuce survey report as requested on May 10, indicated that she questioned the value of a one-time survey and suggested that any such survey should be on a continuing basis. The report notes that at Hamilton School, 25 percent of the lettuce was wasted and 50 percent at Marshall Lane. Only two schools were used in the survey.

The district business manager is also requesting authority to advertise for bids for the Moorpark noise abatement project.

District management positions will be designated by the board on Thursday and the trustees are also expected to adopt the salary schedule for the administrators.

After the scheduled executive session, the appointment of a principal and an amendment to the superintendent's contract are listed as agenda items.

PM IN PUEBLO

Bill Jennings, who served as postmaster of Campbell for a short period of time before being assigned to Pueblo, Colorado, as "officer-in-charge" in January of this year, has been appointed postmaster of that city, it was reported this week.

Pueblo has a population of almost 100,000.

Glen Knowles remains as officer-in-charge of the Campbell post office.

'Concept' of motel gets okay

The "concept" of a motel on Camden Avenue received the approval of the Planning Commission on Monday night but final approval of the project, including the number of units, will await the submission of detailed plans.

Surber-Greenley has submitted a zone change request (from M-1-S to P-D) for two parcels at 1210 and 1228 Camden Ave., with the objective of constructing a motel on the properties. Carrows Restaurant is located on one parcel and will be part of the overall development.

The lot on which the motel is proposed contains 31,500 square feet. No building permit will be issued until the detailed plans are approved.

In other actions, the Commission approved plans for an industrial building for Sherrel Kirk at 20-28 Railway Ave. and also for a warehouse for Milton Bockman at 1261 Dell Avenue.

The Commission also recommended approval of a zone change from R-1 to R-M for property at 665 Division St.

A use permit for one year was granted Pacific Investors at 170 N. San Tomas Aquino Road for a swim school at that location. Pacific Investors will lease the pool to Gretchen Mack who conducts the Water Babies Swim School, geared for retarded youngsters.

The public hearing on the variance application of Gold Seal Realty at the request of Attorney Bill Smeed was continued for 30 days. Smeed said that he thought it might be possible to resolve the problems with the city in that time.

Continued for 60 days was the use permit application of West Valley Hiking Club for the use of a residence at 409 E. Hamilton Avenue for a warehouse office.

The request of Bell Savings for a free-standing pole sign at Campbell Avenue and San Tomas Road was also continued to allow the differences to be worked out.

NEW POLICE OFFICER--Police Chief Don Burr (right), welcomes Remigio (Mitch) Becerra, 21, as a new member of the police force, who was employed on July 1. Becerra, and his wife, Margaret, reside in San Jose. He is a graduate of Samuel Ayer High School in Milpitas and is majoring in law enforcement at San Jose City College.

AT PUBLIC HEARING

Esther Avenue residents gain major victory

Much to the pleasure expressed by the residents at the meeting, Esther Avenue, which runs between Latimer and Hamilton avenues, will remain zoned for single-family residences (R-1), if the action initiated by the Planning Commission on Monday night is carried out.

The action was taken at the public hearing on amending the zoning map and the land use element of the city's general plan in accordance with the new state law stipulating that zoning must be consistent with the general plan.

The hearing on Monday was the fourth in a series that had been designed to make the zoning map consistent. The Esther Avenue portion was just one of 17 specific areas, between Campbell and Hamilton avenues and the railroad tracks and Winchester, that was up for consideration.

The general plan now specifies that Esther Avenue (now R-1) sector, should be zoned R-M (low-medium) density.

RESIDENTS OBJECT

Among those speaking against the proposed zoning change were David Duncan, 336 Esther, and Charles Woodhouse, 280 Esther.

They argued that it would be unfair to the residents on the street to allow apartments and emphasized that the residents, although plagued by parking problems during the week because of West Valley College students, were satisfied with the present situation.

The planning commissioners unanimously agreed with the wishes of the residents and voted to initiate the necessary change in the general plan, one of the few outright changes in the proposals that had been submitted.

AFTER MIDNIGHT

A good-sized audience sat through the lengthy hearing that was not concluded until after-midnight.

One of the protesters to a proposed zoning was Mrs. Bert Simmons of 1680 Winchester. She objected to the change from R-1 to C-2-S (commercial) for her property facing Winchester Ave. She maintained that she had no intention of selling the property for any commercial venture.

ZONING-TAXES

Despite the statement of Chairman Don Hebard that zoning did not raise taxes and the property assessment was the sole prerogative of the county assessor, Mrs. Simmons, as well as a number of other residents present, remained unconvinced.

Mrs. Simmons argued that when her property was zoned for professional offices eight or more years ago, her taxes went up.

Art Kee, planning director, explained that the city records showed that the Simmons property had always been zoned for single-family residence (R-1) and that P-O (professional office) was relatively a new zone for the city.

The C-2-S zoning was approved with Commissioner Bob Stewart dissenting.

In another area, Charles Rose, former Campbell mayor, protested the designation of P-F (public facility) zoning for the property he owns on Latimer Avenue that has been leased to West Valley College. Rose felt that because the college would eventually leave the site, the zoning should revert to commercial, as it was before the lease.

The commission disallowed the request.

CONTINUED

Four of the 17 areas on the agenda were continued to allow for more study by the planning staff. One of these was between Latimer and Hamilton, bordered on the east by Hamilton School, and on the west by Hamilton Downs.

Existing zoning is R-2-S (low-medium density) and commercial (on Hamilton). The proposed zoning (R-M), as Mrs. Kelvin Young, 430 Central, explained, did not allow for the commercial portion.

But it was the last item on the listing, "Discussion Area 17," extending from Harrison across the railroad tracks to Page, that took the most time.

Richard Ziegler, representing the Ziegler property off Harrison, objected to the proposed P-D zoning, as did Richard W. Morton, another former Campbel mayor, for a triangular parcel between the railroad tracks and Foote. The commissioners stood firm on the P-D recommendation but also recommended that commercial use be designated for the triangular portion under P-D zoning.

NEW COMMISSIONER--Don Hebard (right), chairman of the Planning Commission, welcomes J. DuWayne Dickson, of 925 Bucknam, a project engineer for Lockheed, to Dickson's first commission meeting. Dickson, who could not attend the previous meeting, was appointed to fill one of the three vacancies created by the resignations of Fred Long, Carl Larson and Milt Howe. The new commissioners got their test under fire Monday night, meeting until after midnight on complicated zoning matters.

CAMPBELL AUTHOR

Court reporter's "most interesting case" told

When she was first asked to cover the Angela Davis trial, the Campbell woman was hesitant. She wondered whether the trial itself might be too dangerous. Seated in her attractive Robin Lane home, Helda Smith remembers her husband James reassurance: "You'll be better guarded on this case than on any other you've ever worked on."

His words reassured her and proved to be true, Helda said, and so began the most interesting case in her 22 year career as a court reporter.

The San Jose trail of Angela Y. Davis on kidnapping, murder and conspiracy charges is recorded on some 7,250 pages of official transcripts. About half of it was prepared by the local matron. Testimony about the six month trial, as well as exerpts from testimony given in the case are contained in the 246 page book, "From Where I Sat," published by Vantage Press, Inc. and co-authored by Nelda's sister Ruby White, a retired schoolteacher from Carson City, Nevada.

One of two court reporters working on the trial, Sue Diehn was the other, the staff also included two full-time typists who prepared the daily transcripts (unusual in a court case). Nelda and Sue alternated in 10 to 15 minute shifts throughout the proceedings and transferred their work onto tape each afternoon so the typists could have copies ready by the next morning.

With the focus of international attention on the trial, which aquitted the young, black revolutionary, the local author found the adjustments difficult at first. She had to use all her powers of concentration to do her job while in front of her glared the red eye of a television camera.

In reviewing the trial Nelda feels that Judge Richard Arnason handled the proceedings in a most friendly, yet firm manner. He functioned many times throughout the trial as a mediator, bringing opposing counsels to the conference table together if not to any personal agreement. Yet during one of the first days of the trial, with demonstrations going on outside the courthouse and Angela Davis supporters carrying their feelings into the courtroom, he squelched the rising confusion with the stern command to either behave correctly or leave. The courtroom was quieted.

The costs of holding the trial here has brought sharp criticism and many argue that the state should reimburse the county for any costs incurred in providing the tight security for the trial. Nelda feels that at least a portion of the cost should have been waived and that several of the improvements to the jail and courthouse were needed in any case.

After the proceedings got underway, the local woman said it was obvious that Miss David herself would not create any disturbance. "There were too many eyes on Angela Davis," she said, "and she would not do or say anything to cast a bad light on herself or her case."

As far as the verdict is concerned Nelda does not give a decisive opinion (although her book deals sympathetically with the feelings of the defendent). "I feel there was enough evidence brought out at the trial, if the jury chose to believe it, to convict her but I also believe that there was enough evidence brought out, which the jury did believe, to find her innocent."

"Shadow", the family toy poodle, was scampering about the bright red shag carpeting of the Smith home trying to persuade her mistress to play ball as Nelda outlined her background in court reporting.

Court martial cases were her first assignment when Nelda began her work as a court reporter for the Department of the Army in Kansas in 1950. She began her first work for a civilian judge in 1960 and has been in this field since then. In 1964 she moved to California and began working with her present employer in February of 1965.

Her book is dedicated in glowing terms to her "boss", Superior Court Judge Paul T. Gallagher whom she characterises as "dedicated to protecting the rights of the indigent as well as the powerful."

Prior to entering her career field, Nelda worked as an office manager. She is happier in her courtroom work for two main reasons. First, she enjoys working for one individual rather than several because it is easier to adapt to one person than to an office group with its ever changing faces. Second, and from the way her face lights up when she mentions it; the most important, is the constant challenge of the work.

Scattered throughout her book are fantasized conversations with the defendent. This has caused some misunderstanding, at least with some of her friends and acquaintances in Kansas. "I was amazed," she said, "at their impressions. People are BELIEVING these fantasized versions." (These colloquies are separated from the main content by italics but in at least one chapter, beginning on page 234, the arrangement is such that it is hard for a reader to understand the distinction.

Locally, her book will be available in at least two bookstores, Books, Inc. and J. Dalton. They have been ordered but have not yet arrived from the publishers.

The New York publishing house that is handling Nelda's book terms her work "an astonishing achievement," "though an important participant in the proceedings with certain admitted biases and prejudices, the co-author's relation of the events is as objective and fair-minded as any third person report."

CAMPBELL AUTHOR NELDA J. SMITH AND FAMILY POODLE "SHADOW"

Jamie gets a foster Parent

Ann E. Bryant, 2242 Central Park Dr., has "adopted" Jaime Zambrana, a seven-year-old Bolivian boy through Foster Parents Plan, by contributing $16 a month for the child's care.

The child remains with his family. The entire family benefits from medical and dental care, the sustained guidance and counseling of social workers, a monthly cash grant, distributions of useful goods and the aid of special educational programs.

ORPHAN

Jaime and his nine-year-old sister Leonor are orphans. Their parents died of yellow fever about four years ago and the children have been taken in by their godfather and his wife.

They are poor people, living in the Villa Fatima, a congested slum located in a steep, cold canyon of La Paz.

The children's godfather works as a brickmason, earning about $5 a month, and this is not enough for basic necessities, since rent is $2.50 monthly with another 40 cents per month for electricity. The balance goes for food ("They can never afford milk."), clothing and other essentials.

HISTORY

Established in 1937, Foster Parents Plan works in ten countries in South America and Asia. Over 48,000 desperately poor children are being aided by individuals, families and groups in the United States, Canada and Australia.

The ranks of Foster Parents include the old, young, married, single, schools, fraternal organizations, clubs and many more. Their common denominator is the willingness to care for a child in desperate need.

Cambrian trustees adopt tentative school budget

Cambrian District school trustees gave approval to a $4,520,345 tentative budget ls last week after a lengthy discussion. Next work session on the 1973-74 budget will be at the July 17 meeting.

Tuesday, July 10 has been set as the annual organizational meeting. At that meeting the board will elect its chairman, clerk and set the time and places of the meetings for the coming year.

Superintendent D.M. Badgy administered the oath of office to board members John Shehtanian, Jr., and Jack M. Farnham and to board member elect Carol Cooke. Mrs Cooke began her four year term on July 1.

Trustees heard 19 letters read aloud from teachers on the issue of a salary increase. The letters were in rebuttal to an earlier petition submitted by Mrs. Prater and Al Newman that called for teacher's salaries to be frozen.

In other business: trustees;

Renewed the contract between the district and John P. Marlais, business agent, for the coming year.

Directed the superintendent to make a recommendation as to what school(s) should be closed and that each home and school club be informed of that report before January of 174. The board January 1974. The board will take final action before March, 1974.

SIGN OF THE TIMES

Spotted last week at a discount gas station on Winchester Blvd.:

A navy blue Volkswagen pulled into the station and a young man got out. Serving himself, he filled his tank with five cents worth of regular, handed the attendant a nickel and climbed back into the small car.

"I just need enough gas to get me where I'm going," he retorted.

Perhaps he was just going across the street.

Buy your gas early

While gas supplies are expected to be up during the first part of July, last week saw several local stations closed for from one to four days while others had sharply curtailed hours.

The supply pinch reached its peak here during the later part of June when some stations had to close entirely due to the lack of gasoline. One indication of the impact of the supply shortage was in the lack of stations open during the early evening hours last Saturday.

During the time when gas sales are usually moderate to brisk, some 50 per cent of the stations monitored in Campbell were closed. These included several which previously offered 24 hour service. Of the 51 stations checked some 25 were closed for the day.

The majority of independent dealers, in contrast to several weeks ago, were doing a brisk business. Of the 12 noted, eight were open. Two of the four that were closed have been closed entirely for some time.

Of the major stations polled most were fairly evenly divided. There was no clear pattern as to the locations of the stations closed. Many of these were on main arterials while some of the outlying stations, which might be more likely to maintain banker's hours, were open.

In the Greater San Francisco Bay Area, according to a recent California State Automobile Association report, nearly 70% of the 200 stations surveyed are curtailing operating hours and 16 per cent are restricting sales.

While gasoline is readily available in heavily populated areas, the report continues, suburban areas continue to show a high ratio of Sunday and night closings.

Their findings have been borne out, at least in the Campbell area.

NEW CIRCULATION MANAGER--Jeff Williams recently took over the circulation department of "The Campbell Press." A former student at Prescott College in Arizona, Jeff also attended West Valley College.

SAFE BURGLARIZED

Over $600 in cash was taken from the Kirkwood Car Wash, 125 San Tomas Aquino Rd., early this week, according to police reports.

The money was missing from the company safe when the business opened Monday morning.

ORCHARD CITY GRANGE

Guests from as far away as Pomona gathered at the Grange Hall last week for Guest Officer Night at Orchard City Grange, 333.

During the business meeting it was announced that the next CWA meeting will be held on Friday, July 13, at 10 a.m. at the Grange Hall.

The Grange will not be holding their traditional Sunday breakfast until the last Sunday in September, officers announced.

HEAVY THEFT

Some 900 pounds of cement mix was stolen from Hazelwood School this past weekend, according to police reports.

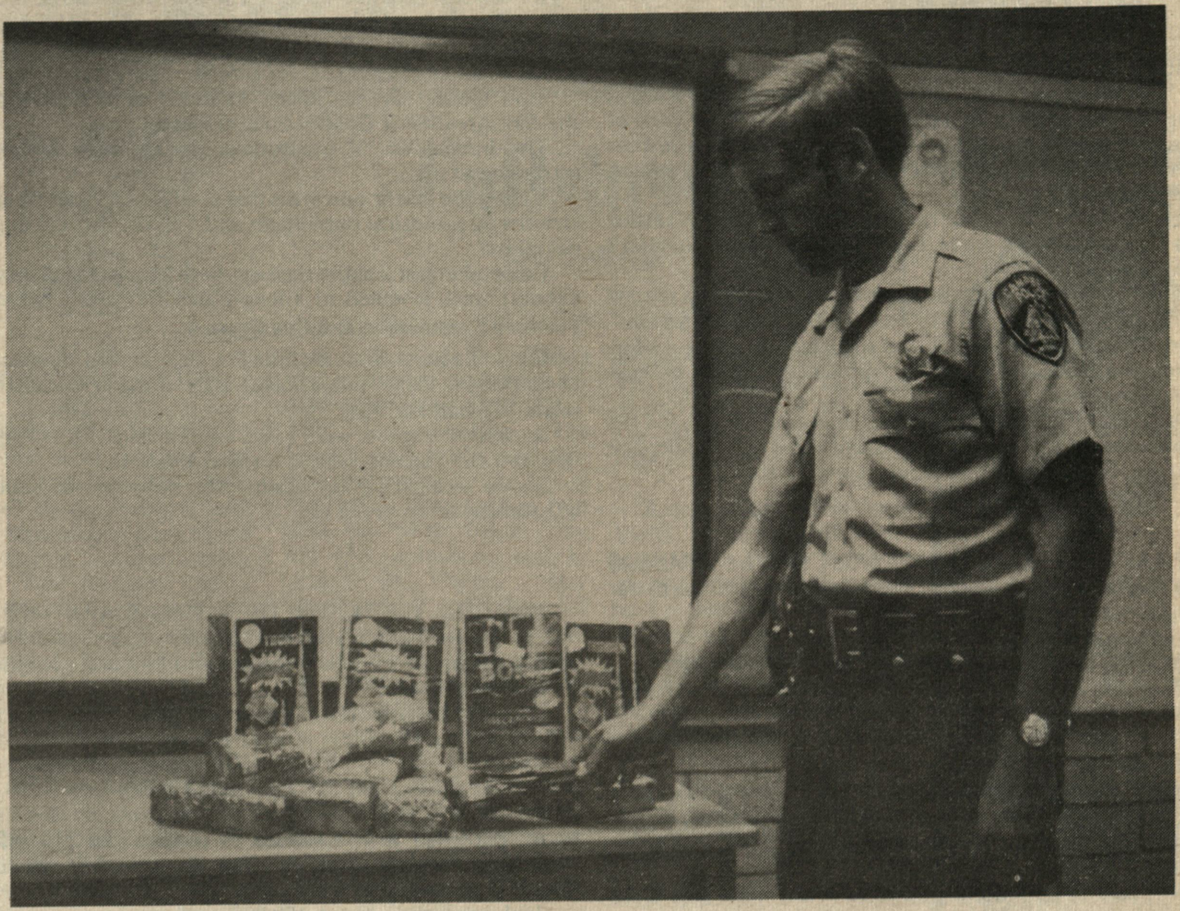
In addition to the 10 bags of cement, each weighing 90 pounds, shingles to be used at the school construction site, were also found missing.

HONORS AWARDED

Three students from Campbell attending California Polytechnic State University were awarded Dean's List Certificates for academic achievement during the spring quarter which ended June 9. They are: George R. Stewart of El Caminito Avenue, a city and regional planning major; Laura Lynn Vierra of Hacienda Avenue, a physical education major and Charles E. Wilkie of Normandy Drive, who is majoring in natural resources management.

Special honors have been accorded two Campbell people who will be members of the freshman class for next year at the University of Santa Clara. Stephen C. Marriott from Camden High School and Timothy D. Ford from Blackford High School have been awarded Honors at Entrance by the University based on their high school grade point averages and their Scholastic Aptitude Test scores.

7,680 firecrackers



The stern warning issued by Fire Chief Gene Borden last week about the use, sale or possession of illegal fireworks, was not heeded by at least four local youths. Police recovered several cases of firecrackers and rockets at the home of one of the youths. Confiscated were 7,680 firecrackers and 1,864 rockets.

Police were notified that two youths were selling firecrackers next to a fireworks stand at the Kirkwood Plaza shopping center. Taken into custody were a 14 and 15 year old youth. Further investigation led to the discovery of additional illegal fireworks and two other youth involved.

Campbell firemen were kept busy last week as the number of fire calls nearly tripled. At least four local fires last Saturday and Sunday have been attributed to fireworks, both legal and illegal. Saturday one building was deliberately set afire at Hazelwood School on McCoy Avenue. Firemen arrived quickly and total damage was set at $50. Firemen found fireworks had been set against four other buildings at the school but had burned out without causing further damage.

A grass fire on Marathon Drive burned over 200 square feet before it was brought under control. Cause of the blaze was fireworks. Other related fires were one at Los Gatos Creek on Sunday as well as a metal dumster can set ablaze the same day. In addition the Campbell Fire Department has answered numerous auto aid calls from San Jose during the past week as they also battle the fireworks related fires.

Artists arrive here for Pro-Art show

Professional artists and craftsmen from the five western states will be displaying their latest works, at the Pro-Art Show beginning Thursday, July 5 at the PruneYard Shopping Center.

Among those whose works will be shown are: Joe Gullick, seascape artist from Sacramento; Ray K. Jones of San Mateo, creator of rusticana and magic sunsets; Jack Wilson of Los Gatos, with Palette knife paintings of bay area scenes, and Joyce Wade of Concord with Porcelin finish paintings and a complete new show featuring ancient art subject matter rendered in oil and gold leaf. Of special interest will be her Egyptian and oriental series.

Kip Illif of Carmel and North Tahoe will be showing his latest ships and galleons and Tom Garvin of Pacifica, will appear with his new collection of traditional oils.

The Newspots of Ron Krogh of Salt Lake City will be of special interest. His works are in the President's collection and each of the moon walkers has one of his commemorative Newspots.

The public is invited to watch art in action and meet with the artists during the show which runs through Sunday.

OUT ON THE LIMB

with George Vierhus

THOSE BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL PEOPLE WHO often have wondered how come they were on some particular mailing list and received literature pertaining to their trade or profession, may have a better understanding of such matters when they realize that compiling mailing lists is a highly specialized field in itself.

Recently we spent some time perusing a 32-page catalog from a firm that, on the cover, specified that it was "America's Leading List Compilers."

We were intrigued by the booklet which had listings ranging from "150 AA Headquarters $15" to "3500 Zoologists $40/m."

And on the inside cover it was explained that the mailing list categories shown in the catalog represent a fraction of those that were available!

The prices include names supplied in cheshire labels and the firm guarantees 95% accuracy, although admitting that because of changes, counts in the catalog are approximate.

WE ARE WELL AWARE THAT MOST OF THE READERS of this column probably couldn't care less about this particular mailing list catalog.

As some of you, not so delicately, have pointed out from time to time, we may be slightly warped in some matters

But we enjoyed looking over the catalog and learning the number of people involved in certain professions, trades and business in this country. (For example, 240,000 attorneys and 100,000 attorneys' wives.)

Some of the figures surprised us. We were more or less aware of the number of papers of our type: Weekly newspapers, for example, 7,800 and weekly newspapers with 2,000 circulation or more, 3,700.

It was sort of fun, looking up some of the more specialized fields.

But, of course, we spent 'way too much time at it.

And, as we have done before, to "justify" the time spent, we pass on our findings to you in this column.

So don't run away.

Even if you feel like it.

MANY OF YOU WOULD PROBABLY BE SATISFIED, IF we skipped the rest of our findings.

But, by golly, we learned a lot and, unselfishly, we want to share our new-found knowledge with you.

We found a multitude of occupations and professions listed. However, not listed were mailing list compilers, so we don't know how many there are in that category.

We did not find any listing for water companies of the kind that Homer Hyde (Campbell Water Co.) runs. Although the good book showed that the 19,000 air and water pollution officials could be circularized for $25/M.

That should take in Homer, inasmuch as he is chairman of the Bay Area Water Quality Control Board.

The breakdown of occupations, groups, associations, was intriguing to us.

Where else could one learn that it will cost you $10 to contact the 50 acoustical consultants and $22 for the 350 dog kennel clubs?

Remember just a short time ago both groups (acoustical and kennel) were involved in a long-drawn out affair before the Planning Commission and City Council.

Joyce Kealoha had requested a dog kennel operation at 1849 Pollard Road and involved were noise level decibels as related to barking dogs.

Acoustical experts were called in...Ed Pack for the opposition and Dr. Vincent Salmon for Miss Kealoha.

As we recall, how to measure the noise of the barks was left somewhat up in the air.

-0-

AND DID YOU KNOW THAT THERE ARE TWO MILlion corporation executives with 105,000 of them with firms in the $½ million to $1 million bracket and 290,000 executives of $1 million or more?

For your information, there are 15,000 editors of all publications and 7,800 editors of weekly newspapers.

Under "R" we noted that 2,500 rabbis were listed and 50 race tracks (horse) and 520 radio and TV attorneys.

We are well aware that most of you probably don't give a hoot. But what if you wanted to contact the "14 safe and vault manufacturers (major)" that are listed? It would cost you $10, according to the catalog.

And contacting the 1,250,000 college alumni would cost you $22.50 per 1000 which is the same tariff you would pay for the 1,500,000 business executives.

We are somewhat apologetic about all this because we do feel slightly guilty about getting so involved in these listings.

So we won't bore you any more.

But we saved the booklet.

Who knows, there may be someother silly character who is as interested as we are in such meaningless trivia.

Say, the 500 philosophers.

Or maybe the 10,000 writers.

Next category, please.

IN A NEWS STORY LAST WEEK IT WAS STATED THAT Mrs. BETTY PACK made one of the goals committee reports at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon meeting.

You had every right to wonder about that.

Although there may be a Betty Pack some place around, there was no Betty Pack on the goals committee.

But there WAS a PEGGY PACK.

Peggy, a long-time secretary in the school district, and now associated with her husband's acoustical engineering consulting firm, was an active member of the physical and economic development committee adn was chairman of the physical design and environment sub-committee.

And, as far as we know, our "Peggy" has never been called "Betty" before.

Sorry, Peggy.

And, if there is a Betty Pack, our apologies to her, too, for putting her someplace where she wasn't that day.

By the way, Bob Peck, principal of Campbell High, as vice-chairman of the goals committee, called on Peggy Pack at the CofC luncheon for her report.

One could say that "Peck picked a Pack."

ALTHOUGH MEMBERS OF THE GOALS COMMITTEE have finished their assignment, former Mayor Bill Podgorsek recently suggested to his fellow councilmen that the city should continue to find ways to push for continued citizen participation in civic affairs.

He made reference particularly to the recommendation of Mrs. Masel Sheehan, vice-chairman of the cultural and special events sub-section of the goals committee.

Masel had indicated that a number of women had shown interest in the formation of a "friends-of-the-library" group.

Bill 'Pod' thought that was a great idea.

"It would keep them generated," was the way he put it.

Generated?

THIS HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH ANYTHING PARTIcular but in recent months there has been considerable discussion over the confiscation of memorandums and notes, etc.

We note, for example, that a number of newspaper reporters have waxed extremely indignant over the idea that their notes would ever be subpoenoed or whatever.

Some of them have claimed that it would be as wrong as the revealing of the source of one's information.

And you all know how much fuss newspaper people have raised over that with a couple of guys going to jail and all that over the principle?

Although, as a professional newspaperman, we agree that sources of information should be protected. We think any hassle over the protection of notes that a reporter takes is purely an academic point and is an exercise in futility.

At least that is our own viewpoint based on our own experience with the thousands of notes we have taken and written over the years.

It has been our observation that there is a built-in protection.

We have a heck of a time deciphering our own notes and they probably would be completely meaningless to anyone else.

So, if anyone wants 'em, they are available.

That is, until they are tossed in the wastepaper basket.

But who in the world would want them?

FOR A LONG TIME NOW WE HAVE BEEN COMPARING the convenience of parking on the main drags of a business section (i.e., Winchester, Bascom, etc.) as opposed to the dangers that are created by parked cars where side streets intersect the main thoroughfares.

We have found that it is a perilous adventure, so to speak, for one to try to nose out from a side street and make a left turn onto Winchester when a car is parked on Winchester near that particular side street.

Some people have advocated that parking lanes should be eliminated on streets such as Winchester and Bascom.

There are others, however, who maintain it would be ridiculous to remove the parking lane on these main thoroughfares.

They apparently like to live dangerously.

We are well aware of our limitations as a traffic expert.

BUT, guessing that the coast is clear when nosing out into the mainstream of traffic from a side street is not our idea of comfortable living.

In an army tank, maybe.

But not in our Karmann-Ghia.

Editorial

Crucial time

The Campbell Press in recent weeks has emphasized the current healthy fiscal position of the City of Campbell.

We have pointed out that this city is probably in a better financial condition than at any time in its 21 years of existence.

We have also suggested, however, that just because the city finds itself in such a good financial position, it does not necessarily follow that the City Council has an easy task this year in adopting a budget.

As a matter of fact, we have contended that the City Council has a more difficult job this year than ever before.

In the past, on many occasions, the City Council merely had to point to the city's bank account, as it were, and cut off spending, and that was that. Many worthwhile projects had to be eliminated or deferred because there just wasn't enough money on hand or projected.

This year the picture is entirely different.

The city's bank balance is in good shape and the problem will be what projects take precedence over others.

In the past when the city was operating more or less on what was termed a "bare bones budget," advocates of certain projects recognized that the money wasn't there, so why push it?

But that is not the case this time.

"Pressure groups" made up of interested citizens will campaign for certain projects and the Council will have to decide which ones will be undertaken.

Obviously there will be many projects that will not win City Council approval.

We have confidence in the City Council. We are convinced that good judgment will be used when the final decisions are made.

We think that it is important to remember that, although a preliminary operating budget was approved before the start of the new fiscal year, it will not be until August before the final budget is adopted and the tax rate is established.

The next six week period is a very crucial time in this city's current fiscal history.

It will be during this time that discussions will be held and pro and con arguments will be presented on various budget items.

The City Council will have to decide how ambitious a civic improvement program is desired and what are the taxpayers willing to pay.

We think it first must be determined what is the city's basic tax rate. We have submitted that the 1972-73 rate was not $1.30 per $100 assessed valuation because 12-cents of that amount was for a special purpose (city hall). Others claim that the base rate is $1.07.

But the base rate should first be determined and, if more funds are needed for various programs that are desired, it should be specified what the additional taxes are for.

AFTERNOON AT THE MOVIES

Finally had a free day to see some local movies. First on my list was the latest "Apes" movie. It was a total disappointment compared with number one and number three. The producer had a good idea and over-used it. I bet he's laughing all the way to the bank. The other flick I saw was the newest "Bond" movie with the newest Bond, Roger Smith. He swallows much of his dialogue and lost the good lines that the author wrote.

A HELPING HAND—Assisting St. Vincent Pavilion of O'Connor Hospital patient, Victor Belatti, with his noontime meal is O'Connor Volunteer, Jessie Zeenah.

Special care offered at St. Vincent Pavilion

Bingo parties, flower arranging, painting and puzzles, evening guitar gatherings--this versatile recreation program is for patients, the extended-care patients of the St. Vincent Pavilion of O'Connor Hospital.

Eleven O'Connor Hospital Volunteers and two Candystripers, headed by Mrs. William Nystrom, provide an ongoing program of recreation to these patients, many of whom are elderly and alone. Volunteers also talk to the patients, read to them, write for them, feed them, comfort them.

St. Vincent's Pavilion, formerly Serra Medical Hospital, became part of O'Connor Hospital Jan. 1, 1971.

UNIQUE

The structural set-up of the Pavilion is unique. Unlike most hospitals, the one-story building's large rooms all look out onto garden courtyards. A large glassed-in lanai also brings the outdoor fountains and greenery inside. Here patients watch television or entertainment, play bingo, and see visitors. The volunteers are also hopeful for a piano in this room, hoping someone will be kind enough to donate one. The atmosphere of St. Vincent Pavilion is quiet, relaxed, and friendly.

A shuttle service brings meals and tests to the patient from the main hospital building across the street, and also takes patients to the main building for services.

Many former Pavilion patients request their second admission be in a St. Vincent Pavilion room of O'Connor Hospital. It is an inviting, caring place to be.

PERFORMERS SOUGHT

Those interested in performing at the 29th annual Santa Clara County Fair, August 17-26, still have time to apply, according to William A. Straub, secretary-manager of the Fair Association.

Applications are available at the fairgrounds at 344 Tully Rd., San Jose, or by calling 295-3050. Both professionals and amateurs may perform on one of the Fair's stages during the 10 big days of Fair fun.

All applicants must audition, said Bill Smethers, spetion, said Bill Smethers, special events director. Auditions are on a first come, first served basis.

Tumblers, country-western acts, antique car clubs, vocalists, dixie land bands, and unicyclers are just a few of the many varied groups who have appeared at previous Fairs...

Obituaries

KATHY A. HEWITT

Funeral services were held Monday for Kathy A. Hewitt, 24, a 1967 graduate of Del Mar High School, who died suddenly last Thursday in a Santa Clara Hospital.

A clerk at the San Jose office of Pacific Telephone, Mrs. Hewitt was born and raised in the Santa Clara Valley.

Surviving are her husband, Charles V. Hewitt; her mother, Mrs. Mary Frances Wicklander of Campbell; her father, Johannes Meyling of San Jose; two brothers, Arl and Neil both of Campbell; and two sisters, Mrs. Karen Hensen of Mountain View and Mrs. Roberta Queen of San Jose.

Interment was at Oak Hill Memorial Park.

HOLLY WOOD

Holly wood, valued for its ivory-white hardness, is used in inlaying and for fine cabinet work.

TO HELP YOU FEEL ACQUAINTED

- We believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God.
- That righteousness is simply "rightness"
- That there is no one that is righteous.
- That through faith in Christ's death for us, God forgives our past sins.
- That through this forgiveness we can have fellowship with God, person to Person.

A day at Girl Scout Day Camp

TODDLER SAYS "ME TOO" AT MILK DEPOT

FIRST AID STATION

Vasona Junction became--a hub of activity

by Erlene Cleveland

It all began as cars dropped off girls and girls and more girls. After the usual hub-hub of hellos, a unit is selected to conduct the flag opening ceremony in which everyone joins in singing, as well as the Pledge of Allegiance and the Scout promise. Then the group broke up into their units.

LATER IN DAY

"Mine is almost finished," said Kelli Baker to Tawnee Nelson and Pam North, junior Girl Scouts attending the day Camp held at Vasona Park in Los Gatos. Glenice Frank helps Kim Woodard get the knotting board started.

They were all talking about their macrame project taught them earlier in the morning by Lori Manning and Kathy Connor, Cadette crew members on the day camp staff. This unit was guided by leaders Mrs. Kenneth Brown and Mrs. James Horn.

In another part of the camp, Laura Holmes and Cindy Black were busily putting finishing touches on lunch dessert "Mallow Squares," while Kelly Cooper began the clean-up chores. This all-Brownie Scout unit 3, led by Mrs. Robert Stoffer, then learned a new relay game while awaiting the lunch hour.

As the milkman delivered the huge "milk cartons" to camp, Brownies from unit 1, Heidi Rogers and Ann McGuire hurry to perform their "milkmaid" chores. Young Baker Cleveland, ready to help, managed to mooch a carton of milk from them.

What goes with the bird-feeders just completed by Unit 1 all-Brownie group? Why, pine cone birds decorated with feathers and felt, according to Lori Spiker, Debbie Stoffer and Jill Woodard. Leaders of this unit are Mrs. Bob Kent and Mrs. Jerry Woodard.

Day Camp isn't only for Girl Scout age girls. Some units are run for boys 7-12 by Boy Scouts with first class or higher rank, and by Cadette Girl Scouts for the younger children, both boys and girls.

Cadette crew Julie McInerney helped members of the Kiddie Korral make bracelets out of thin colored wire. Earlier in the day, Julie and Mrs. Don Jordan took the kiddies to feed bread to the ducks in Vasona Pond, while Mrs. Bob Miyakusu and Mrs. James Henriksen prepared a barbecue feast for the young children. All were under six years old.

One of the most popular persons at Day Camp is the First Aider, Mrs. M. E. Allari. Hardly a camper lets the opportunity go by to visit the first aid corner, for a bandaid or a mosquito bite (even if they have to invent one).

When Unit 8 returned from their ride on the Billy Jones Wildcat Railroad, they set to work making a "Friendship Salad" for lunch. Elaine Hatley and Maria D'Avolio (at end of table) prepare plums, while Louise Ruby cuts in an orange and Cherillyn Palmer slices a banana. All of the girls contributed a fruit for the lunch salad.

Last stop of our visit was with Unit 6, led by Mrs. William Ruby and Mrs. Ronald Stephens. Several projects were under way; Marcia Weston, Aundrea Bluth and Colleen Barry work on popsicle stick wishing wells and an another table girls were making wall hangings out of ecology items.

At the other end of the camp unit 6, Campbell junior Girl Scouts Annette Herr was seen cranking the ice cream freezer while Jackie Pope sat on the freezer to hold the top steady.

Puppets made by Laura Kent and Christine Schulze were having a rehearsal for their part in the original puppet show written by the girls of Unit 6 entitled, "Alice in Girl Scout Land."

This day camp was directed by Mrs. William Disser. All over Santa Clara County, Girl Scout day camps are being conducted. Some are general activity camps, as this one at Vasona was, and some are specialized camps, such as bicycle camps, canoeing camps, hiking, horseback riding, etc. All are staffed by volunteer workers.

Fifty years together

MR. and MRS. JOE SALVADORE and FAMILY

About 150 relatives and friends gathered at the American Legion Hall Post 419 in Santa Clara recently to honor Mr. and Mrs. Joe Salvador of Assunta Way on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Other out of town guests included the ocuple's long-time friends, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Adorni Jr. of Akron, Ohio.

Gold wedding bells and bouquets of spring flowers graced the tables for the affair and a painting of Joe and Eleanor seated in a Stanley Steamer decorated the wall behind the head table. A special gift of a gold scale with crystal prisms was presented to the honored couple.

Married in Akron, Ohio, in 1923, the Salvadors have been residents of the San Jose and Campbell area for 22 years and prior to their retirement were the owners of Railway Builders Supply in Campbell.

The former Miss Erickson is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Erickson of Fresno. Long is the son of Mrs. Eileen Long and the late Richard Long of Campbell.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a candlelight satin gown with long sleeves and a fitted bodice overlaid with lace and beadwork. A three-layered veil and a long veil train edged in matching lace completed her costume. She carried a bouquet of bridal pink roses and baby's breath.

Barbara Long, sister of the groom, attended her as maid of honor and wore a pink floor length southern belle styled gown of chiffon and satin accented with a deep ruffle at the hem. Mary Battiste gowned in lavender, Judy Erickson gowned in blue, and Linda Baxter gowned in yellow served as bridesmaids. Their dresses were the same style as that of the maid of honor. The attendants carried nosegays of fresh spring flowers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Erickson chose a street length baby blue polyester knit dress with a pleated skirt. She wore a corsage of white roses.

Mrs. Long, mother of the groom, was outfitted in a street length aqua chiffon dress with a pleated skirt. She also wore a corsage of white roses.

Gary Erickson, brother of the bride, served as best man. Guests were seated by ushers Jim Ferguson, Norm Hammond and Ken Campbell. Vocal selections were offered by Carol Barnett.

A reception for 150 guests followed the ceremony in the church's fellowship hall.

The bride attended Armijo High School in Fairfield, and received her bachelor of arts degree and master's degree from California State Unversity at Chico. She is presently employed as a speech therapist for Fresno County Schools.

Russell is a graduate of Westmont High School, West Valley College and received his bachelor of arts degree from California State University at Chico. He is presently attending California State University at Fresno as a graduate student in industrial arts and is employed at Montgomery Wards Automotive Center.

After a honeymoon trip to Southern California, the couple is making their first home in Fresno.

A different kind of teen club

by Maureen Hillyard

Summer can sometimes be a boring time of year with nowhere to go.

Coach Earl Adams seems to have a solution for those living in the Prospect High School area.

What Coach Adams and the Prospect Teen Club have done is to form a drop-in center in their cafeteria. On Monday and Wednesday nights from 7 to 10 p.m., and on Fridays from 8 to 11 p.m., the Teen Club is held. Cards are on sale for $1.50.

At the drop-in center, students from eighth through 12th grades, can come in and mix with others in a ping pong game or pool championship. They can also swim and play volleyball and badminton on co-ed Swim and Gym Night.

With a membership of 235, the club is more activity geared than dance orientated but five dances are planned for the summer. The first was held last Friday night.

Some activities planned for this summer include trips to Frontier Village, skating trips, an evening at Golfland USA and Teen Nite.

Students interested in seeing the club in action are invited to drop in this evening at 7 p.m.

Valley Center official visit

A group of two dozen manpower and labor officials from Africa, Southeast Asia and the Middle East have just finished visiting vocational training centers, manpower agencies and industries in Santa Clara County.

The manpower officials visited the Santa Clara Valley Medical Center. VMC officials said they appeared impressed with the Rehabilitation Department, where patients are taught to overcome physical handicaps resulting from spinal cord injuries.

"The U.S. Department of Labor self-selected our Valley Medical Center because it's one of the models as a government supported hospital," stated Hatfield. "It has done a lot of things in the manpower field using para-professionals, new techniques and training programs in connection with the schools. It was a model for showing the labor officials how we're meeting our manpower needs."

ENGLISH SWIMMERS

Getting ready for the 1976 Olympic games

by Pat Safford

"I wanted to prove to my people that American swimmers are not born with gills."

The speaker is David Haller, coach of the South Hampton Swim Club, as he watched his swimmers work out at the West Valley College pool.

Haller, and 15 English swimmers, ages 14-21, were guests of the West Valley Aquatic Teams during their 10-day stay here which ended Tuesday.

"You have more facilities in this county than there is in all of Great Britain," Haller said, "and San Jose University has more sports facilities than we have in the National Sports Center."

The English team arrived here earlier this month for the Santa Clara Invitational swim meet. "We didn't do too well," Haller said of that competition, "although five of our swimmers placed in the finals."

Part of the reason, Haller said, was the time change in international travel. The team arrived here on a Thursday and began competitive swimming Friday at 7 p.m. "It was still 3 a.m. to us," the coach expalined.

"We arrived in San Jose in 105 degree weather," Haller remembers. "In England we're having a heat wave when it reaches 75." Although the heat took a little getting used to, he is now partial to our weather. At home, rapid changes in temperature are common, he said, and "if I was home I would probably have a cold about now."

The foreign visitors were special guests at a swim and supper party hosted by WVAT at the Blossom Hill Tennis Club in Los Gatos recently. Over 150 people attended the gathering which was the group's first introduction to the American "barbecue."

English teams have not fared well in international competition and Haller is determined to do something about it. Three of the visiting swimmers, Malcolm O'Connell, Colin Cunningham and Ray Terrell, competed in the 1973 Olympics in Munich and many of the swimmers are promising 1976 Olympic contenders. Top honors went to Cunningham who placed 13th in the 200 meter backstroke.

Facilities, coaches and incentive are the three main barriers blocking England's bid to pick off medals in the 1976 Olympics. In addition, the English attitude doesn't help, Haller explained. Sports are considered just a pastime in England. "We have a 19th century approach. Be a jolly good swimmer, the English tell their children, but don't take it too seriously."

In contrast to local facilities, the coach says his team practices in a three lane, 25-yard pool, "and that serves a population of 500,000." Incentive is provided for American swimmers through the scholarship programs which we take for granted. In England there are no athletic scholarships available, Haller said.

The English swim coach was, himself, an Olympic competitor. He swam the 100 meter freestyle in the 1964 games.

"Before we arrived, Haller continued, "we had the impression that American people were rough and tough." Instead the group has found their new friends and acquaintances "light spirited, well-mannered and generous... to a fault."

The team will be the guests of a swim group in Tacoma, Washington, and then on to Portland, Oregon, before they return home on July 16.

Practice was over for the morning and Haller prepared to leave with his swimmers. Now that he's been here, "I've seen what I've got to beat," he said, with a hearty handshake and a glint in his eye that indicated he's going to do his jolly well best.

MODEL AIRPLANE CONTEST

While most Campbell residents spend a leisurely day at family gatherings and picnics, several hundred contestants are busy at the 18th annual Model Airplane Contest at Del Mar High School today.

Little League

MAJORS

In the majors, Breuners moved two games ahead of the pack by defeating first half champs Moose twice, 5-0 Saturday on Mark Izatt's one hitter and 8-5 on Sunday as a six run second inning was the margin of victory.

In that fateful inning losing pitcher Jeff Rymer gave up just two hits but wildness cost him. It was Bill Tsamis' two run double in the fifth that put the game out of reach for Moose.

Big blast in the game was a two run shot by Jeff Rymer, his tenth which put him two behind league leading Jack Cameron of D's Automotive with 12.

Pitching gem of the day was turned in by Campbell Lumber's Ray Ybarra as he threw his second consecutive no hitter by downing D's Automotive 7-0. Ray was superb as he struck out 14.

Big hitters for the winners were Dan Raines and Ray Ybarra with two hits apiece.

Campbell Plaza pounded three Willow Glen Optimist pitchers for 13 hits and a 10-3 win as winning pitcher Gary Tasker spun a two hitter. A five run fourth inning highlighted by Bill Stouffer's triple salted it away for Plaza.

Dan Romeo, Steve Aberle, John Mott and Bill Stouffer led the hitting with two hits apiece.

MINORS

In minors, San Jose Optimist continued their winning ways by overwhelming Winchester 22-8. Hits were many but Tony Dacquisto's of Optimist were the longest, two home runs good for six runs.

First place Campbell Optimist hit a snag as Sir Speedy pitcher David Proffitt struck out 10 and gave 7 hits to lead his team to a 6-4 victory.

Tod Osburg hit one in the sky blue to pace the SS Boys.

Doetsch went wild destroying Campbell Kiwanis 22-4. Winning pitcher John Russell hit a grand slam. Brad Sommer cashed in on three hits, one also a homer for the winners.

Kiwanis' four runs came in the sixth inning on a grand slam by Jeff Rynhard.

Seventh Street Tires scored a mild upset by defeating first half champs JJ & R 11-9. Ed Rodriguez and Scott Brown led the winners with three hits apiece.

Letters to the Editor

IN APPRECIATION

Dear Mr. Vierhus & Staff:

We sure do appreciate the past publicity that you have so generously given to us, The West Valley Progressive

Senior Center, in the past but the picture of our Center on your front page of last week's paper surpassed everything.

One young Campbell man offers motorists entertainment as he backpacks his way along the roadway. In addition to his "Burma Shave" sign, Robert Long also has one which reads, "Smile....even if you don't stop," and another which states simply...."Sign."

4H CLUB MEMBERS

Santa Clara County 4H clubs and Future Farmers of America (FFA) chapters plan to prove they "ain't all cows 'n cookin'" at the 29th annual Santa Clara County Fair, August 17-26.

The groups are in their own building, Gateway Hall, for the first time, and have come up with some unique changes.

"Our emphasis this year is to provide an interesting exhibit for the public, not to just put exhibits on display to show off ribbons," said Jack Rouleau, chairman of the Fair's Junior Division.

FFA and 4H members plan to use the "display technique" for showing projects.

Rather than concentrating all wood exhibits in one section, all clothing exhibits in another, and all vegetables in yet another area, they plan to set up booths that may include, for instance, a desk made by one exhibitor, a lamp by another, a dress by another and a cake by another.

All 4H and FFA exhibits will be mixed, as will their "feature booths."

These booths, which are limited to one per club or chapter, may show the public what the group has learned, activities in which it participated, or contributions the organization made to the community.

To fit purposes not readily covered by exhibit displays and feature booths, panel displays are another new method 4H and FFA members may use to show their work.

"We have a broad base now," Rouleau said. "We couldn't list all categories in the premium books, so we thought the panels could handle the more flexible projects."

Flexibility is not only the theme of Junior Division exhibits, but it is also the emphasis of its live entertainment and demonstrations, as well.

Although the clubs and chapters have set up a tentative schedule of entertainment, they are not limited to it.

"If one kid wants to play guitar for only fifteen minutes, that's fine. If another has an interested audience, and extends beyond his half hour limit, that's fine too," Rouleau said.

No limits have been placed on their dress code, either. Now 4H and FFA members are not required to wear their uniforms to the Fair.

And so, Santa Clara County's sixty-four 4H clubs and ten FFA chapters hope to prove they "ain't all cows 'n cookin'."

But there'll be plenty of that, too. All sorts of livestock will be featured in the Jr. Barn area, and the annual auction will be held at 9 a.m., August 25.

HAMILTON CONTRACT

Although not completely satisfied but reluctant to delay the project any longer, the City Council, in a special meeting last Friday, awarded the contract for the widening of Hamilton Avenue from the freeway to Winchester to Freeman-Sondgroth for $576,257.30, low bidder.

The Council had deferred letting the contract on the previous Monday in order to check out the wide disparity between the engineer's estimate and the low bid for traffic signalization.

LOW BIDDER

Stone and Youngberg, with a bid of 5.7263% interest, was the low bidder for Local Improvement District No. 17 (Dell Avenue) and was awarded the bond sale by the City Council.

STREET PROJECT

For a low bid of $58,405 (engineer's estimate was $60,175), Freeman-Sondgroth was awarded the contract for the asphalt concrete overlay on Hamilton from Dunster to the city limits and on Campbell Avenue, from San Tomas Aquino Road to San Tomas Aquino Expressway.

Buses roll in county

On Monday of this week, for the first time, it became possible to ride the new Transit District buses from one end of the county to the other.

The ride on Monday typified the efforts transit district authorities are making to expand the services. Throughout the county, special bus stop signs have been erected designating where the district buses will pick up and let off passengers.

Maps and time tables are available at the district offices. For schedule and route information call 287-4200.

tinued, should additional guidelines be issued which results in the ineligibility of the entire group.

Under the new guidelines a mother with one child would be dropped from the program if her gross earnings exceeded $447 monthly.

Children three years up to and including sixth grade students are cared for in the program which runs from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the school.

"We provide care for children too old for other programs," the center director said, "yet too young to be left alone."

Under present conditions, children already in the local program will be allowed to remain.

Name change

"Jean Drive" and all its connotations with respect to housing in Campbell will be only a memory, if Michael Traugott, new owner of the "Jean Drive Apartments," has his way.

Traugott, in a letter to the Planning Commission, submitted that he was trying to improve the image since he has taken over and has renamed the complex the "Sharmon Palms Apartments."

To help forget the past even more, he has asked the city to change the name of "Jean Drive" to "Sharmon Palms Lane."

The commissioners seemed to think it was a good idea and unanimously gave their blessing to the name change.

H. S. board plans to cut tax

Trustees of the Campbell Union High School District, with the adoption of the preliminary budget for the fiscal year 1973-74 of $20.2 million, indicated that the district tax rate of $2.43 general purpose tax would be cut.

The reduction of tax rate will depend on pending state legislation, as well as how the ramifications of Senate Bill SB 90 will affect the property tax situation of the district.

This year's preliminary budget of $20,275,495 compares with last year's $18,- 7 879,206. A public hearing on the proposed budget is scheduled for August 1.

The trustees also approved the appointment of Dean R. Chamberlin as district director of classified personnel. Chamberlin, who is serving his second term as Campbell councilman and is the current mayor, is a long-time district [illegible]inistrator. He was ser[illegible], district director of s[illegible] services.
